

Editing and Proofreading Checklist

Editing for Content

- Have I answered the actual question?
- Is what I have to say interesting?
- Does my introduction grab the reader's attention?
- Do I explore the topic in sufficient depth?
- Have I included a high level of detail and concrete evidence?
- Are all the details and evidence relevant?
- Do I offer specific insights rather than generalizations and clichés?
- Does my conclusion make an impression on the reader and answer the question "So what?"

Editing for Structure

- Is it easy to identify the overarching theme? Is it actually articulated?
- Is the thesis statement clearly identifiable and well expressed?
- Are the theme and thesis put in context?
- Do the paragraphs flow smoothly?
- Are there any gaps or jumps?
- Does each point build upon the previous point?

- Are any of the paragraphs too long? Too short?
- Does each paragraph have a topic sentence?
- Are the transitions clear and easy to spot?
- Are the details, evidence, and discussions well integrated?
- Is the essay clear and coherent?
- Is the structure "visible" in terms of introduction, body, and conclusion?
- Does it have impact?

Editing for Style

- Is the style consistent throughout?
- Are the sentence constructions varied?
- Is the vocabulary interesting and precise?
- Is the voice active rather than passive throughout?
- Have I avoided using too many adjectives and adverbs?
- Is the tone appropriate for the assignment and topic?
- Is my own voice evident throughout without the use of "I"?
- Have I included enough quotations? Too many?
- I have conveyed confidence, enthusiasm, and passion?

Proofreading for Language

- Have I run spell check? (Note the red lines.)
- Have I paid attention to grammar check? (Note the green lines.)
 - Is subject/verb agreement correct throughout?
 - Is each sentence complete? No fragments!
 - Is the pronoun reference correct throughout?
 - Is the parallel structure correct throughout?
- Have I used any words too often? Use the thesaurus function.
- Have I left out any words? Read aloud, slowly, pointing to each word.

Proofreading for Punctuation

- Is the use of commas correct throughout?
 - Separating two complete thoughts in a sentence

The author was born in Ireland, and she was raised in a tiny village off the northeast coast.
 - After introductory words, phrases, or clauses

After having suffered a lifetime of destitution and deprivation, Lily did not know what to make of her new situation.
 - Around parenthetical (interrupting) statements

Lily, in a state of confusion and despair, escaped from her mental prison and fled the island.

Proofreading for Format

- Is my title page correct according to instructions?
- Have I double spaced?
- Have I used Times-Roman 12 point font?
- Have I put in the running head?

Proofreading for Citations and References

- Have I cited all the sources for ideas as well as facts?
 - Are my in-text citations introduced clearly and correctly?
 - Have I done the parenthetical citations correctly? Check the style guide - don't guess!
 - Is my reference/works cited page formatted properly?
 - Have I followed the style guide accurately for references?